School houses in Iowa will demand a premium after to-day.

There are 137 republican speakers on the stump in Massachusetts. They propose to talk the Badentes to death.

The republicans of Ohio are expected to do their duty to-day—to pull together and all vote the straight ticket, and elect Foraker by 25,000.

The independents in Massachusetts have come a little more than half way into the republican ranks this fall. They warmly support Mr. Robinson for governor, but are opposed to Ames for lieutenant governor.

The Alexian Brothers who have been maintaining humanitarian hospitals in Chicago and Oshkosh, are planning to build a hospital at Oshkosh, which shall accommodate three hundred insane, idiotic, or epileptic patients.

When General Sherman opens his mouth he never makes a fool of himself. When asked the other day if he wanted the presidency, he answered "No, sir. I wouldn't have the office. It ruined General Grant, and whatever of honor I have gained I wish to keep."

It was thought that President Arthur would be able to tell the biggest fish story of any one in Washington this winter, but he can't do it. The eighty-pound bass it was reported he caught, weighed ten pounds only. Taking off seventy pounds equals a good fish story.

Mr. Blaine's book, "From Lincoln to Garfield," promises to be the best selling book of the present day. It was said he was offered $200,000 for the copyright but refused it, preferring to accept a royalty of 15 per cent. The work will cost about $6, and it is expected that from 300,000 to 400,000 copies will be sold.

The annual meeting of the northwestern branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held in Madison, Oct. 10, 11, and 12. There will be a reunion Tuesday evening, the 9th, an address of welcome, response, introduction of returned and outgoing missionaries, and a social.

Charley Seymour built up an international reputation in a day. The report of his assassination is false, as his thousands of friends in Wisconsin will be glad to hear. A cable message was received at the department of state at Washington, Monday, from Consul General Denny, stating that quiet prevails in Canton, and that there is no truth in the reported assassination of U. S. Consul Seymour, who is alive and well.

The Inter Ocean makes this interesting announcement: "Considerable interest has been excited among bibliophiles over the discovery of two or three copies of the celebrated Hish Memoirs of George IV. in this country, and their rareness, owing to the suppression of the edition by the British government, gives the work great interest and value. One of the very few copies of the book extant has come into the possession of the Inter Ocean, and copious extracts will be published to-morrow morning."

The interview which recently appeared in the Chicago Herald, between a reporter of that paper and General Fairchild on political questions, is said by the State Journal to be wholly fictitious. "As a matter of fact, the only thing in the pretended interview that the general really did say, was: 'I am out of public life now, and positively decline to be interviewed.' He made no further reference whatever to political subjects in his few minutes' desultory conversation with the reporter. The interview in the Herald was ingeniously written, in a very pleasant style, but was substantially a fiction, pure and simple."

The "old ticket" will not get much of a boom in South Carolina. In 1876 Tilden wanted to buy up that state, offering to pay the sum of $30,000 for it, but the scheme failed. But during the canvass Mr. Tilden agreed to pay $5,000 toward the expenses of the campaign in South Carolina, and as they talk of renominating the old ticket, the Charleston News and Courier, which is quite democratic in all things, says: "That $5,000 was spent on the faith of Mr. Tilden's promises, and to this day Mr. Tilden has not repaid a solitary cent of that which was expended in his name." An incident of this kind doesn't give the "old ticket" much hope in South Carolina.

There is a general belief that the publication of the government's enormous list of pensioners will benefit the professional claim agent more than anybody else, and on this subject the Chicago Journal says: It enables them to obtain information that will be valuable to them as a guide to new victims of their peculiar devices. The pension list, when cleared of fraudulent names, will be the Nation's roll of honor, and as such its occasional publication is a proper thing to do. As regards the professional claim-agents, their occupation will end only when all government officials shall cut loose from them, and when all honest pensioners shall discover that the intervention of these agents in their behalf is more prejudicial than otherwise.

The newspapers are publishing the official report of the membership of the Mormon church in Utah. According to this the members number 127,294; number of families, 23,000; births in the last six months, 1,200 males and 1,100 females; number of children under eight years of age, 37,000; number of marriages in six months, 338; new members 23,040; deaths 781. The church organization embraces, twelve apostles, fifty-eight patriarchs, 3,153 high priests, 11,000 elders, 1,500 bishops, and 4,500 deacons. Arizona reports a membership of 2,264. Idaho, not reported, has double that of Arizona. Eighty-one missionaries have been appointed to go on missions to Europe and the United States. Polygamy seems to grow fat under the aeration of the Edmunds law.

A RECORD OF BLOOD.

Assassination of a St. Louis Police Sergeant by a Notorious Negro.

End of a Quincy, Ill., Indian Doctor's Marital Misery in Murder and Suicide.

Sensational Murder and Suicide at Indianapolis, the Fifth Within a Year.

A Sanguinary Recital.

A POLICEMAN SHOT DOWN.

St. Louis, Oct. 9.—Sergeant P. M. Jenks, of the Third District police, was shot and fatally wounded by a negro prostitute, Sadie Hill, one of the most notorious women in the Third District. The particulars are as follows: Sadie was on a drunk and looking for a negro lover. Some negroes in the neighborhood called Sergeant Jenks' attention to the fact that she had a big pistol in her pocket. The Sergeant followed her from Seventh and Carl streets. His presence was evidently unnoticed until just north of Middle street on the east side of Eighth, when the woman turned sharply, and without a word placed her pistol to the forehead of the officer and fired. The ball tore its way through his hat and splattered a portion of the brain on the front of the exterior. He dropped in his tracks, and two brother officers, hearing the report of the weapon, ran to the rescue. The woman fled in terror, but was captured and lodged in the Third District Police Station, where she was sullen and refused to talk. The Sergeant will not live.

LATER.—Sergeant Jenks died shortly after reaching the hospital. He was forty-two years of age, and had been a member of the police force since 1858. He leaves a large family.

WIFE-MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 9.—At twelve o'clock yesterday an Ojawa Indian doctor named Joseph Rogers, in a jealous quarrel with his wife, a white woman, shot and instantly killed her, and then suicided by shooting himself through the head. The man and wife were alone in their kitchen and food, quarrelsome talk was heard by a crippled colored woman in an adjoining room. Soon after two shots were heard and it was found that the wife had been shot from behind, the ball entering the coil of hair on the back of her head. The husband was lying dead beside her, the ball entering the middle of his forehead. Both had evidently died instantaneously and without a struggle. Rogers had eluded out a precarious existence by practicing among the lower classes of the people, and had several times previously threatened to kill his wife, of whom he was jealous. She had also with one or two unsuccessful attempts at suicide. A coroner's jury found the facts to be as above set forth. The wife was decently prepared for burial, but the man was put into a cheap coffin as found and hurriedly buried in the potter's field.

A SENSATIONAL TRAGEDY.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 9.—A sensational murder and suicide was committed here Monday evening about which there hangs an air of mystery which the police are unable to solve. William Fultz, a baker, was a boarder at the residence of Mrs. Noyes at Benton and Georgia streets, and has boasted several times lately of his intimacy with the wife of Albert Neff, sister of his landlord. Mrs. Neff went to Mrs. Noyes' to spend the evening, accompanied by her little girl five years old. Mrs. Noyes left the house for a few minutes to go to a neighboring letter-box, leaving Mrs. Neff and her child alone. When she returned ten minutes later she found her sister and Fultz lying on the floor dead, both shot through the heart.

The only witness to any part of the crime was the child, who says that Fultz came home and passed through the room in which her mother was sitting, entering his own room. In a few moments he called Mrs. Neff into the room and immediately the child says, she heard two shots following which her mother ran out into the sitting room and fell dead. In the afternoon Fultz told a friend he would kill himself before night. The friends of the murdered woman deny that there was any truth in Fultz's claim to have entertained improper relations with her and are at a loss to account for his motive.

Neff appears to take the tragedy very coolly. To the reporter he said that he had no suspicions of his wife, and that he didn't know Fultz. He says that his domestic relations have always been pleasant. He is Mrs. Neff's second husband, their first being a man named Goldberg, by whom she has one child, a little girl who saw her killed. Fultz is a distant relative to her, and followed her here from Chicago. It is believed that his hatred for her has been of long duration.

This is the first case of murder and immediate suicide of the murderer that has occurred in Indianapolis within the past year, and it seems to have become a very popular way of disposing of people.

An Australian Request.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Australia has applied for admission to the International Postal Union. She has heretofore been kept out by her inability to reduce her foreign postage to the union rate of five cents a half ounce on account of the large subsidy for steamship lines. Australia has applied to be admitted with condition she is willing to receive matter mailed to Australia at five cents a half ounce, but she wants to retain their own foreign postage rate until the present subsidy contracts expire. The United States assents to the proposition, but it will require the unanimous consent of all the nations in the union.

AN ENGINE'S MAD DASH.

At Full-Speed Without Engineer or Fireman, It Plunges Into a Deep Building.

After Demolishing the Structure, Killing a Woman, It Buries Itself in the Cellar.

A Remarkable Accident.

A RUNAWAY LOCOMOTIVE. LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 9.—A remarkable accident occurred Monday afternoon on the Boston & Maine Railroad. A lot of Italians had been for several weeks employed in laying additional track on the branch road junction. They have had a gravel-train and the locomotive Andover. About five o'clock this engine ran wild. It started in Tewksbury, four or five miles distant from here. Reaching the end of the track it overturned the bunter as though it were a mere whip of straw and went plunging through the floor of the depot for a distance of seventy-five feet into the office of Lovejoy & Rand's express office. It crashed through the partition separating this office from the depot quarters, and also wrecked one end of the baggage-room in passing.

As it entered the express office four persons were present and endeavored to escape. Two succeeded by way of the door. G. C. Paul had time to leap out a desk when the running monster reached him. A plank was hurled against the door and pinned Mr. Paul in close quarters. Meanwhile the engine was grating its head against the brick wall which adjoined the public sidewalk and tore out quite a section, besides all the windows, when the floor gave way and it was precipitated into the basement, emitting clouds of steam and smoke. This caused Mr. Paul and permitted his escape through the window. It also prevented the machine from piercing the wall and getting into the public street. The fourth occupant of the express office, and the only other one—so far as known—was Mrs. Mary Nutter, an aged widow who lives at No. 7 Water street. She was carried down into the cellar with the engine and debris, and was completely, though lightly, covered, resting face downward just under the headlight. Her injuries will prove fatal.

On the track adjoining that which the runaway had traversed was a train almost ready to leave, and had it come on that side the destruction of property and life must have been great.

There are the wildest rumors on the street as to loss of life by burial beneath the ponderous mass of iron and timbers in the basement, but nothing authentic has yet come to light. The engine and its cargo, as soon as possible to learn the full truth. The property loss must amount to $10,000 or more.

Weld are worth about $6,000,000 each. Among the more prominent millionaires are Charles Francis Adams, Alexander Agassiz, Oliver Dison, ex-Governor Gaston, Eben D. Jordan, Charles Marsh, Congressman Leopold Morse, Robert Treat Taine Jr., Congressman A. A. Ratney, Henry L. Pierce, and Colonel Jonas P. French.

—Miss Anna Dorau is very sick with fever, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Dorau, North Bluff street.
—Rev. C. B. Wilcox, the new pastor of Court Street M. E. church, arrived in the city to-day, from Milwaukee, and was a welcome caller at the Gazette office.
—Miss Cora Bliss gave a pleasant little party at her home on Vernon street, last evening, in honor of Miss Eattie Stow, of Chicago, who is visiting friends in this city.
—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene N. Fredendall have returned home from their wedding tour, and have settled down to the realities of life, which their friends hope will be long and happy.
—The young men who were before the municipal court yesterday afternoon charged with an assault upon Mrs. Murray in the "patch," were discharged, the evidence not being sufficient to hold them.
—Mrs. A. R. Jones, of Madison, was in the city a short time yesterday, on her way to Burlington, where she goes to read at the G. A. R. post entertainment, which is to be held this evening.

—Mrs. M. A. Warner, who has been living in the family of her brother, County Treasurer Willie Miles, for some time, will start for Atchison county, Kansas, to-morrow, for the purpose of visiting her daughter.
—Dr. Geo. H. McCaussey, whose illness was noted in the Gazette of last Friday, remains in a very low condition, and has been delirious for three or four days. There was no change from this condition at the latest reports from him this afternoon.

—Mr. Hubbard Wilson and wife, of Westboro, Mass., are in the city, the guests of Judge and Mrs. A. P. Prentiss, of the third ward. Mr. Wilson is extensively engaged in the manufacture of woolen blankets, and is now on a pleasure trip in the northwest, intending to visit St. Paul and Minneapolis. He is an uncle of Mrs. Prentiss.

—Miss Emma Gramke, who had been sick only nine days with inflammation of the bowels, died a few minutes after two o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the home of her uncle, Mr. Albert Gramke, on Sarah street, second ward. The deceased was twenty years of age, and had been in America only two years. Her funeral will take place at the German Lutheran church to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. John Schler officiating.

—The board of education held a special meeting last evening, but no business of special importance was transacted, but three of the five commissioners being present, Messrs. Atwood and Valentine being out of the city. The commissioners resolved to renew the insurance on the fourth ward and high school buildings, four thousand dollars with Messrs. Dimock & Hayner, and three thousand dollars with Messrs. Ripley & Dutton.

—Mr. Herman Buchholz, the carriage builder on the corner of East Milwaukee and Bluff streets, received an order to-day from Eau Claire for one of his new style wagonettes. These new vehicles are working their own way into public favor, and are becoming very popular with liveriesmen. The Buchanan (Iowa) Bulletin published at Independence, speaking of the one recently shipped to the insane asylum at that place, says "it shines all over" and is just what that institution needed.

—The sale of reserved seats for the "Lights o' London" will take place at Prentiss & Evenson's to-morrow morning. This will be another choice entertainment for the people of Janesville. It is a wonderfully fine spectacular drama. The scenery used belongs to the company, and fills a large car which is owned by the "Lights o' London" company. It is one of the finest cars of the kind that rolls on any railway, and the exterior paintings upon it are well worth a walk to the depot to see. The drama is a specially strong one, so much so, that when Barham's great show was at Eau Claire the other day Mr. Bailey, one of the owners, made a special announcement of the drama which was soon to be given in that city, giving it the highest praise, a thing never before done in Barham's show. This fact is mentioned for the simple reason to give our people an idea as to the character and popularity of the "Lights o' London."

BROKE IN TWO.

The Wreck of a Stock Freight on the St. Paul Railroad.
An accident occurred on the Beloit branch of the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul railroad last night between eleven and twelve o'clock, some two miles south of this city, resulting in the destruction of six cars, and the killing of thirty one hogs and eighteen head of cattle. Conductor Henry Holt's train, a through stock freight, which usually leaves this city at nine o'clock p. m., was considerable late last evening, and did not start out until after eleven o'clock. The train consisted of twenty-seven cars loaded with stock, bound for Chicago, and was made up by shipments from stations on the Monroe line. It is supposed that while going down the Monterey grade the train broke in two, near the engine, and the conductor being busy in his caboose, did not realize that anything was wrong, as the train was going along all right. It seems that the engineer, whose name we did not learn, did not miss the rear of his train until he reached a point below Mr. Peter Myers' farm, some two miles down the river, where he stopped, and commenced backing up to catch onto the missing cars. The night was very dark, and appearances would indicate that the engineer was backing up pretty fast. When within a few rods of Mr. Myers' farm house, the two ends of the train came together with a terrible crash, making a complete wreck of six freight cars, and killing eighteen head of cattle, and thirty-one hogs, besides liberating some forty or fifty cattle and as many more hogs. The scene of the wreck presented a sickening sight this morning, the dead and dying animals locked up in the wreckage, but those with broken limbs were immediately killed. A large force of men were put to work, and by nine o'clock this morning the track was cleared for the passage of the regular trains. Mr. T. T. Croft, the agent in this city, was on hand soon after the accident occurred, overseeing the job of gathering up the wreck. Mr. Croft says he has secured about all the hogs that were turned loose, but some forty or fifty head of cattle are yet missing. Nineteen cars of the wrecked train were brought back to this city, and the remainder of the train with the engine being beyond the wreck were sent on to Chicago. One or two of the wrecked cars will perhaps be worth rebuilding, but about all there is left of the others, are the wheels, and some of them are badly smashed. The collision must have been one of great force. It is estimated that the accident, including the loss of cars and stock, will result in ten or twelve thousand dollars. Several rods of track were torn up, but all was put in good shape and trains were running as usual by nine o'clock this forenoon.

The Hanlon's Last Night.

One of the most enjoyable performances ever given at Myers opera house was that of the Hanlons last night. The entertainment was a splendid piece of extravaganza and dramatic nonsense, and was fully appreciated by the large audience present. The Hanlons are actors, acrobats, pantomimists and musicians by birth and education, and have a reputation in all parts of the world. William and Frederick acted the part of two model servants last night in the farce "Le Voyage en Suisse," and whether tumbling from the stage coach or falling among the wheels of a moving train, they are equally agile, active and alert. As genuine fun-makers their superiors have never been on the boards in Janesville. The upstaging of the stage coach, sending passengers and baggage in all directions, and the railway collision and explosion, were the finest performances of the kind ever seen in Janesville, and were perfect masterpieces of mechanical ingenuity. Of course the audience laughed heartily over the tricks and the mishaps of the voyagers through Switzerland, and applauded again and again the matches work of the Hanlons.

One of the best things in the play was omitted last night by the ill-manners of many in the audience. Before the play had concluded, a large number, anxious to get to the door first, started out. This started scores of others, when one of the Hanlon brothers ordered the curtain down. This was an unfortunate, as it cut off one of the finest points in the whole piece. It is about time that a Janesville audience should understand that it is exceedingly unmanly to leave their seats before the curtain is rung down. It is disrespectful to the company, and a piece of injustice to those who want to witness the closing scene in a play. There is no sort of an excuse for a rush to the door before the curtain drops.

PURE AND UNEXCELLED.

The Boot and Shoe Trade.

Some years ago the boot and shoe firm of A. Richardson & Bros. started in business in this city, with a determination to test the theory of selling goods on a ten percent margin. Being young men, endowed with the best business qualifications, they embarked in this business with the only purpose of success before them, notwithstanding the prediction of many older heads that this new departure would prove a signal failure. They said nothing, but kept their attention strictly drawn to their own business, believing that the public were entitled to goods at what was then thought to be ruinous margins to the dealers. By close figuring, economy, and small profits, they were able to sell better goods and at lower prices than most of their competitors. This act soon became known, and as their trade increased, their faith grew strong in the fact that good goods on a small profit was what the people demanded. The best manufacturers in the country solicited their patronage, which enabled them to place the finest and best qualities of goods in their stock. This enterprising firm now occupy a two story building with basement, which gives them three spacious departments for the display of their immense stock. Fair and honest dealing, with reliable goods is what has accomplished this. And now with a trade amounting to many thousands of dollars per annum, they are enabled to purchase in large quantities at figures far below smaller firms, and which gives the public an opportunity to purchase of them at a less profit than of small dealers. The stock of goods carried by this firm is comparatively new, they having disposed of their old stock some months ago to the trade in Watertown, and with a complete department for manufacturing and repairing, they are the second largest retail boot and shoe house in the state. Not fully satisfied with their success, they propose to sell their new and large stock of boots and shoes within the next ninety days. Among their mammoth stocks are over seven hundred dollars worth of buckskin gloves and mittens which they propose to dispose of at and below actual cost. They also keep a full stock of goods manufactured in this city. The firm of A. Richardson & Bro. on West Milwaukee street, is one of the liveliest business places in Southern Wisconsin, and the fall trade is receiving a tremendous boom, which they are able to keep up with. Give them a call.

Downs' Elixir has been made and sold more than 50 years, and still the sale is increasing. It cures consumption, coughs and colds. Sold by Stearns & Baker.
